Parisian French—Canadian Patois.

How superlatively Parisian a real Frenchman would think the people of Trois-Rivieres who made a public presentation to a neighbor for his galanterie—when his real achievement was not in love-making but in life saving! But the Parisians might find a worse patois in their own country. The difference between their language and that of the long lost Jean Baptiste is one of accent more than of words. The French Canadian speech is thicker, coarser and less linking than the French. One of the most striking differences occurs in a multitude of words ending in "ais," such as jamais, avais, which are pronounced jama', ava', and so on, even by educated Canadians who write perfect French. When the ancestors of Jean Baptiste sailed from northern France these words were spelled jamaois, avois, and the pronunciation has not changed with the orthography. In some proper names, such as Beauharnois, even the spelling remains unaltered.

The French Canadian takes liberties with his consonants as well as his vowels, as will appear from a few of M. Manseau's sad examples: A'oir, agroients, bi'n, anin, (ain) a'chante and i'chantent (for elle chante and elle or his chantent), pramenez su' la rue; donne-moc-le; c'est une avartissement que l'on ion 'l en'oye! But with all this, no one accustomed to the conversation of our French neighbors across the channel need be hindered by an imaginary strangeness of speech from journeying to the inmost parishes of the province of Quebec—a province full of rewards for the seeker after old time ways.—Contemporary Review.

Travels of a Bullet.

R. H. Campbell of the Madras civil corps tells of an incident which came under his official notice as magistrate of Hosan, Madras. A European was hunting black buck on a hillside when he got shot with his Martini-Henry carbine. The result of the shot taught him a lesson about the dangers of long range bullets.

In a valley 1,500 yards away, beyond two rather high hills and a little pond, a native was standing with his head bowed and hands clasped behind his back. The bullet broke the wrist of his hand. In the investigation that followed the course of the bullet was traced accurately. In firing at the antelope the bullet had hit a stone on the hillside and gone bounding end over end over the first hill. At the next hill another place where the bullet struck was found. Here the bullet jumped up into the air almost perpendicularly, and when it came down in the ricefield it hit the man's wrist, broke the bone, cut a gash in his body, then dropped to the ground a spent ball. The most dangerous bullet, save the one in a so called isn't-loaded-gun, is the one that goes ricocheting through the air.—New York Sun.

Adam Ferguson.

Adam Ferguson, afterward professor of history in the University of Edinburgh and author of a once popular history of the Roman republic, in his youth was chaplain of the Black Watch, and with it was present at Fontenoy. When the regiment was advancing into action, Sir Robert Munro, the colonel, noticed his chaplain at the head of the column with a drawn broadsword in his hand and ordered him to the rear with the doctors.

Ferguson refused, and when the column, in the altercation which ensued, threatened to have his commission canceled, replied, "D—n my commission." Then charging at the head of his flock, he fought like a gallant Scotsman during the bloody fray. We doubt not that the stout Munro forgave his insubordination for the sake of his valiant example, and that the stern old Presbyterians in the ranks would appreciate his subsequent ministrations none the less that they had seen him in time of trial play the man in their midst.—Blackwood's Magazine.

He Wants a Change.

Mrs. De Lisle had been to the hairdresser. "I see that pompadour rolls are coming in again," she remarked to Mr. De Lisle the next morning at breakfast.

"Thank heaven for that!" retorted her husband. "Do get the recipe for our cook, for the rolls she gives us now are regular jaw breakers!"—Detroit Free Press.

All kinds of paper pulp will carry from 5 to 15 per cent of their own weight of clay, and a small addition of this adulterant, if it can be properly called so, is believed by many makers to improve the quality of the paper.

Simplicity.

I am convinced, both by faith and experience, that to maintain one's self on this earth is not a hardship, but a punition, if we will live simply and wisely, as the pursuits of the simpler nations are still the sports of the more artificial.—Thoreau.

A Possible Motive.

"What makes time fly so?" "If it didn't fly, it would have to be killed."—Detroit News.

Woman's Realm.

MAKE THE HOME A BLESSING.

The Love of Children is Innate in the Heart of every True Man and Woman.

All that is beautiful and lovely in woman, finds its climax in motherhood. How often we find among our American women that longing for the prattling voice, the idol of their waiting hearts. It is a natural instinct, this yearning of the heart for offspring; yet the wife hesitates to talk with the family physician on this delicate subject. A good way to do is to send for "The People's Medical Adviser," 1000 pages, profusely illustrated (wood-cuts and colored plates). Sent on receipt of 21 cents in stamps, for postage and wrapping only, if you address the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. The reflections of a married woman are not pleasant if she be delicate, rundown, or debilitated. She feels "played out." Her smile and her good spirits have taken flight. It worries her husband as well as herself.

This is the time to build up her strength and cure those weaknesses or ailments which are the cause of her trouble. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription regulates and promotes all the proper functions of womanhood, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep, and restores perfect health and strength. It's a safe remedial agent, an invigorating tonic and nerve which cures all those disorders, weaknesses and derangements incident to womanhood.

NAVAL CADETS.

Some suggestions to Those Who Desire to be Examined.

The course of naval cadets is six years, four years at the academy and two at sea. The nomination of a candidate to fill a vacancy shall be made upon the recommendation of the Congressman in whose district the vacancy exists, and the candidate nominated must have been for at least two years immediately preceding the date of his appointment an actual and bona fide resident of the district in which the vacancy exists. All candidates must at the time of their examination for admission be over fifteen and under twenty years of age and physically sound, well formed and of robust constitution.

Candidates examined now will be examined at Annapolis on the first of next September and will be required to enter the academy immediately after passing the required examinations.

Any one of the following conditions will be sufficient to reject a candidate: Feeble constitution, retarded development, impaired general health, decided cachexia, diathesis, or predisposition; any disease, deformity, or result of injury that would impair efficiency; such as weak or disordered intellect, cutaneous or communicable disease, unnatural curvature of spine, torticollis, or other deformity; inefficiency of either of the extremities or large articulations from any cause; epilepsy or other convulsions within five years; impaired vision, imperfect color sense; visual acuteness must not fall below fifteen-twentieths of the normal in either eye; impaired hearing or disease of the ear; chronic nasal catarrh, azens, polypi, or great enlargement of the tonsils; impediment of speech to such an extent as to impair efficiency in the performance of duty; disease of heart or lungs or decided indications of liability to cardiac or pulmonary affections; hernia; varicocele, sarcocele, hydrocele, stricture, fistula, hemorrhoids or varicose veins of the lower limbs; genito-urinary diseases; chronic ulcers, ingrowing nails, large bunions or other deformity of the feet; loss of many teeth, or teeth generally unsound.

Attention will also be paid to the stature of the candidate, and no one manifestly undersized will be accepted; five feet will be the minimum height.

EDUCATIONAL EXAMINATION.
Candidates must be able to read understandingly and with proper accent and emphasis, and to write legibly, neatly and rapidly. They must be able to write from dictation paragraphs from standard pieces of English literature, both prose and poetry. Spelling will be considered in marking all the papers.

In arithmetic the examination will include the ability to express in figures any whole decimal or mixed number; to use with facility the tables of money, weights and measures in common use; to reduce compound numbers, to give the number of cubic inches in a gallon, and the relation between the Troy and avoirdupois pounds, and will include also longitude and time, ratio and proportion, contracted methods of multiplication and division, measurement of rectangular surfaces and solids; square and cube root, and in general includes a thorough knowledge of arithmetic.

In algebra the examination will be elementary in character, including fundamental rules, factoring, algebraic fractions and simple equations.

In English grammar, familiarity with the parts of speech, the ability to parse any ordinary sentence, and the power to correct sentences will be required.

A thorough knowledge of the geography of the United States is absolutely required, and a good general knowledge of the geography of the rest of the world is called for.

Candidates should be familiar with so much history of the United States as is contained in the ordinary school histories.

Candidates receive $500 a year commencing at the date of admission, and one month after admission the successful candidate receives his actual expenses incurred in traveling from his home to the Academy.

It is of the greatest importance to send candidates to Annapolis who are physically sound as well as educationally strong. Each candidate presenting himself for examination will be required to file a certificate signed by a reputable practicing physician stating that the candidate is physically sound and not subject to any of the conditions given in the foregoing list. Candidates are at liberty to choose their own physician and are to pay the expense of the physical examination. It is better to pay this expense now than to pay the fare to Annapolis and run the chance of being rejected on physical grounds. Candidates will understand that the examination at the present time is not final, but is merely held for the purpose of enabling Hon. F. G. Newlands to choose a candidate.

Saturday, June 20th, will be given up to the physical examination, and the educational examination will commence at 9 o'clock on Monday morning, June 22, 1896, in the High School building in Reno, and continue until finished.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

LAKE-KEIG.

One of Reno's Best Boys And a Fair Daughter of Virginia Joined in Wedding.

Chas. Lake, Reno and Miss Mona Keig, Virginia, were married in the Methodist Church in the latter city yesterday afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Whitaker officiating. Misses Grace Gracey, Mae Marshall and Carrie Pratt were the bridesmaids; John Sunderland of Reno, and Chas. Mosser and Wm. Keig of Virginia officiated as groomsmen.

There was a large assemblage present, composed of the friends and relatives of the young couple. Charlie, as Mr. Lake is familiarly known, is in every sense a native son of Nevada. He was born in this valley and has grown to manhood in Reno. He is very popular with his associates and is favorably known as an enterprising young business man of this community. His young wife is to be congratulated on her choice of a life partner.

Mrs. Lake is a daughter of the Comstock and is a great favorite with all who know her. She attended the University here for a time and is by no means a stranger in Reno. Charley has chosen wisely and it will be his ambition to make his life companion happy.

The congratulations of the JOURNAL are extended. Mr. and Mrs. Lake left for San Francisco last evening on a brief visit.

TEACHERS ELECTED.

The following named tendered their resignations, which were accepted with regret: Miss Anna Summerfield, who goes East on an extended visit; Miss Mary Snow, who is to leave the profession; Miss Belle Stanley, who is going to California; and Miss Hattie Rhodes. Lisle Jamison was elected Janitor, a position which he has satisfactorily filled for the last two terms.

CLOSING EXERCISES

The Graduates of the Eighth Grade Receive Their Diplomas.

The closing exercises of the Eighth Grade of the public school, Miss F. Short's room, drew a large audience yesterday afternoon. The graduating class of the department was composed of eighteen bright boys and girls who had honorably earned their promotion to the next grade. The reading of well written essays, also recitations as well as vocal music were the features of the program. At the conclusion of the exercises Dr. McN. Miller gave the audience a short talk, after which Prof. Bray presented the diplomas. The violin solo by Miss Della Levy was a very pleasing feature of the entertainment. There was a profusion of flowers. After the exercises the class and their teacher were photographed in a group.

OFFERS OF BAIL.

Humboldt Friends Come to the Rescue. The following was received here yesterday:

LOVELOCKS, Nev., June 18, 1896. Beck and Kelley, Reno Jail.—If you need bail or other assistance wire the undersigned.

N. NELSON AND OTHER FRIENDS. We thank you, Mr. Nelson and other friends, but the ring has not succeeded in closing the jail door on us yet, and possibly, if justice prevails, some of its ornaments may get inside prison doors ahead of us. BECK AND KELLEY.

Final Closing Exercises.

This morning at 10 o'clock Miss Unruh will have her closing exercises at the Riverside School.

To-day all the departments of the public schools will close, except the High School, which will have commencement exercises at the Opera House next Tuesday evening. Miss Unruh has the reputation of always crowning a good year's work with most interesting exercises, and all who may be fortunate enough to get in will enjoy a treat.

The school year has been a prosperous one in all the departments and nearly all the pupils have richly earned promotion and rest.

Notice.

All members of the Reno B. B. C. that are going to take part in the Ex-aminer base ball games are requested to meet at the ball grounds to-day (Friday) and to-morrow (Saturday) at 8 o'clock in the afternoon, and Sunday morning at 9 o'clock for practice. By order of the Captain.

MCKINLEY AND HOBART.

plank for gold, as in the majority platform, was adopted, and then the platform was adopted as a whole.

Canon of Utah then took the floor for a personal statement regarding the platform adopted. Cannon stated that the minority should not yield to this question. He said that the platform was such a distinct departure from the principles of the Republican party that it challenges our republicanism to accept it. This is the first great gathering of Republicans since the party organized that has declared the inability of the American people to manage their own affairs. (All the silver delegates rose in a body at this point and showed their approval of the sentiments.) Cannon said that the action of the convention is relentless and outrageous on the part of the majority in favor of gold. Cannon announced the withdrawal of the Utah delegates from the convention.

GREAT CONFUSION. Followed with mingled cheers and hisses, and Chairman Thurston said that the Republican party does not fear any such declaration. Great cheering followed this statement, with all the delegates and spectators on their feet. Cannon announced the names of the persons signing the minority report who felt obliged to leave the convention. As the names of Teller, Dabois, Cannon, Hartmann, Pettigrew and Cleveland of Nevada were read there were hisses. At the conclusion Teller and Cannon shook hands with Thurston and others, bidding them good bye. The bolting delegates, comprising the entire delegation of Colorado and Idaho, three delegates from Utah, Pettigrew of South Dakota, Hartmann of Montana and Cleveland and Strother of Nevada walked out of the convention amid the cheers of delegates. The band played "Columbia, Gem of the Ocean." The entire audience and the delegates were singing and waving flags and handkerchiefs. Then they raised umbrellas, singing, "Three Cheers for the Red, White and Blue."

Renewed cheering followed. Mantle of Montana, on a chair, sought recognition vainly for a time. Finally he took the platform, saying that all the delegates of Montana felt not justified in walking out. The Chairman facetiously remarked that there seemed to be enough delegates left to transact business. Senator Brown of Utah then took the platform in favor of the platform submitted by the committee and approved the action of the convention. A call of the States was ordered for the names of the NEW NATIONAL COMMITTEEMEN.

The roll of the States was then ordered for the presentation of candidates for the Presidency. John M. Baldwin of Iowa then took the platform to present the name of Allison, and was well received. When Maine was called Senator Lodge took the platform to present the name of Speaker Reed.

NOMINATIONS. There was a great burst of cheering when Lodge mentioned Reed's name. His presentation of Reed's qualifications elicited frequent cheers. Littlefield of Maine seconded Reed's nomination.

When New York was called, Chauncey Depew took the platform to present the name of Morton. Depew was received with tremendous enthusiasm. He said that Morton could not accept the Vice Presidency unless it came unanimously. General cheering greeted this statement. The delegates and audience were on their feet and throughout the building there was an immense demonstration, continuing several minutes.

The cheering continued and was resumed as Senator-elect Foraker of Ohio took the platform to nominate McKinley. It was some time before the enthusiasm had quieted down so that Foraker could proceed. Foraker's mention of McKinley aroused a storm of applause over the convention. Plumes were being waved all over the hall and galleries, horns were blowing and there was general cheering. The demonstration became more violent. As soon as the enthusiasm quieted down the delegates renewed the demonstration with even greater vigor.

The sun, which had been under a cloud, burst out, flooding the hall, and the audience sang "Marching Through Georgia." There seemed hardly the possibility of a doubt now that McKinley would be nominated on the first ballot. The audience began singing "The Battle Cry of Freedom" led by the band. Chairman Thurston vainly tried to make the gavel heard, pounding on the table with all his might. The applause and cheering broke out again, and continued without any abatement of will or volume.

Under the vigorous pounding of the Chairman's gavel, the audience began to quiet down, until "Dixie" was started in the singing of which all joined. A delegate walked across the top of the reporters' desks, wearing a Napoleon hat, attended by great cheering and laughter. Finally the convention quieted down so that Foraker could resume his speech.

When Foraker concluded there was another burst of applause, and then Thurston left the chair to second the nomination of McKinley. Governor Hastings of Pennsylvania then nominated Quay.

McKinley was nominated on the first ballot, which was as follows: McKinley, 661½; Reed, 83½; Morton, 65; Quay, 61½; Allison, 35½.

Hobart of New Jersey was nominated for Vice President and the convention adjourned sine die.

THE SELECTION OF DELEGATES. The State Central Committee of the Silver party will meet here to-morrow to select fifteen delegates and fifteen alternates to the National Silver Convention, which is to meet at St. Louis, July 22d, and to fix the time and place for holding the next State Convention and apportion delegates to the same.

It is important to the cause for which the National Silver party was organized, to have a full delegation of true and tried Silver men at St. Louis, as the election of President may depend upon the action of that convention. It is conceded by those who have taken the trouble to ascertain the sentiments of the common people, the toilers and producers, that a decisive majority of them are in favor of restoring silver to the standard from which it was displaced by treachery and falsehood. The only difficulty, therefore, in electing a President who is favorable to silver lies in getting the advocates of free coinage to unite upon one candidate. That accomplished victory is assured in November. The necessity of united action was made apparent at the recent election in Oregon. Though the Populists undoubtedly elected both Congressmen by a small majority, had all the Silver men in the State been united their ticket would have been elected by an overwhelming majority, and the first gun of the campaign in a State heretofore decisively Republican, would have almost annihilated the webfoot goldbugs.

Nevada should be represented in the National Convention by reliable citizens, conservative men, who are not wedded to "isms," which can wait, without serious injury to the country, for future consideration; men who will make concessions, and do anything that is reasonable to unite the Silver forces, whether they be Populists, Democrats or Republicans. The dull times will prevent many from attending the convention, who, under ordinary circumstances would do so, but doubtless there are enough sterling men, with Stewart, Jones, Newlands and Wren, who are able and willing to make up Nevada's quota, so that the State will be fully represented in the National Silver Convention.

H. J. Thyes will serve a splendid lunch to-day from 11 till 2 o'clock. The finest of summer drinks served in the most approved style.

That Tired Feeling

Makes you seem "all broken up," without life, ambition, energy or appetite. It is often the forerunner of nervous troubles. It is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is therefore apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

How He Captured a Bear With No Weapon
But His Boot Toes—He Was Once Saved
From Freezing by a Bottle of Kerosene and Some Matches.

Jack Ormiston is still alive to tell some of the most wonderful tales that are heard in the Adirondacks. Jack has been a guide for some 30 years, ever since he has been big enough to carry a pack basket. He is tall and loose jointed, and his muscles are as hard as hickory knots. His black grizzled beard covers nearly all of his broad face. A pair of small, blinking black eyes do most of his talking for him, but when he is properly aroused he can spin a tale at the camp fire that will startle the wildest eagles down on the lake shore.

"You've heard some of the fellows say, hain't you, how I kitched that old bear last fall?" asked Jack.

We assured him that we never had,
and it was strictly true, because he had told us a dozen or more times himself.

"Well, you must know where Tully pond is," continued Jack. "Blessed if I don't kitch a bear mighty queer there last fall. Jim Hodge gave me a lift on the job, I must say, but that ain't the point. Fact is, the great point was the too end of these boots. I was coming down this way along the trail when I heard a rustling overhead in a tall pine.
Golly, when I looked up, kunder quick, sideways, for I feared somethin was goin to drop, I see a mighty big bear comin along one of the limbs toward the trunk.
"He started ter come down the trunk back end first, winkin at me. My gun was over at camp. I didn't have a thing with me, and Jim was half a mile back on the trail. That bear I could see had a mighty fine hide that would bring me somethin like $80, with the bounty. I didn't care ter have him run away, nor did I want ter shake hands with him and pass the time of day with him till Jim come along and put him asleep with a bullet. I didn't make up my mind none too soon. The bear wasn't half way down the tree when I rushed at him, not knowin what I would do ter own that hide and capture the bounty.
I looked around for a club, but none come in sight, so when I got ter the foot of the tree there wasn't nothin but one thing ter do. I just hauled off and kicked that bear.

"It was the first experimentin of the kind I ever heard of, and by gosh it beat anything I ever see. The bear clawed hard into the bark and snapped at me.
He was easin up a bit with his paw when I swung him another and another. I yelled for Jim and swung again. I yelled six times, kirked him seven every time. Then Jim answered, and I kept up yellin and kickin, first with one foot and then the other. The bear didn't drop an inch. Just as he eased up a little bit I swung again.
Gosh! It seemed as if Jim was takin him into camp along that trail. Just as I swung the forty ninth kick Jim come up sight. I dropped dat on my back.
Jim reported ter me the bear, and it was over on ter me. Jim was the first to see me ever see. It was over before I could prove ter him that I was tellin the truth about that bear.

Jack picked another log on the edge of the camp on a new log.
"You see, I come near bein done for," he said. "Kerosene kept me in public, I was enough ter get near a fire, and then I was all right again."

We wanted to know if kerosene oil wasn't a new beverage for him.

"No, I didn't drink none," he continued. "I started ter cross Brandy brook on a log. I wanted ter cut off a three mile walk around by the trail. The water was high, and there was a strong current running out into the lake. This log was about a foot and a half through.
I rolled it off with the stream. I kicked my breeches in my boots and straddled the log. I hadn't kitched a dozen strokes before I got out into the swift water, and then I could see I was in ter it. I kicked ter back up again ter the shore, but it was no use, so I let it go. It came on dark, and my feet began ter freeze.
My old boots had been well greased, but the water dripped in at the tops and soaked my stockings. I tried kickin harder ter keep my blood stirred up. I drifted over toward Bear Mountain, and knew that if the wind kept up I would land somewhere before midnight. Just as I was gettin almost froze I thought of a bottle of kerosene I had to oil my gun. You can bet I was wishin it was somethin more cheery than kerosene oil. A little alcohol and sugar at that time would er slipped down into them boots from the inside and melted them frozen toes, but there wasn't nothin but kerosene. I poured it half and half into each boot, and I know it helped ter make me easy fer a time. But by and by it seemed ter me the oil must be freezin too. It was lucky I had my old matchbox along in my vest pocket, high and dry, for then the idea struck me that if I lit a match and sent it down into the oil it would warm things up some.
There wasn't much else ter doer think about. I was makin fer Bear Mountain island slow, but steady. If I didn't get there till midnight, my feet would both be froze off, so I made up my mind ter try the matches. Lucky fer me my boots had wide tops so I could send the lit match right down ter the bottom where it 'nd do the most good. Well, sir, the first match in the right boot did the trick fine. It took fire and thawed things out quicker'n I thought. Blisters raised all over, and when it all got scalded all comfortable I wiggled around and put out the fire. Then I tried it on the left foot, and it worked just as well. There was enough matches left to start a fire on the island when I drifted, in there toward 12 o'clock."

Does the Moon Affect Insomnia?
"The most singular case of insomnia of which I ever heard," said a well known physician, "is that of a friend of mine in a neighboring town, a lady of middle age."
"With the exception of her peculiar insomnia, she is in robust health. She is an uncommonly sound sleeper in the 'dark of the moon,' but as the new moon approaches its first quarter she is attacked with wakefulness. She can sleep only at long intervals during the night, and only a few minutes at a time."
"The sleeplessness increases with the falling of the moon, and by the time that stage in the moon's course is reached she is unable to obtain even the slightest slumber. She remains in a state of utter wakefulness until the moon begins to wane, when she gradually goes to sleep again."
"When the period of dark moon has arrived, she resumes her unbroken slumber. This condition has prevailed for more than ten years."—Pearson's Weekly.

What It May Come To.
"You don't mean to say, Mrs. Easy, that you are homeless and homeless?"
"Precisely."
"Astounding! How did that come about?"
"Well, I engaged a servant the other day and after she had been domiciled a day or two she asked for my references.
I gave them to her and after examining them carefully she pronounced them not fit for a servant and discharged me."

For your Protection.—Catarrh "Cures" or Tonics for Catarrh in liquid form to be taken internally, usually contain either Mercury or Iodine of Potassa, or both, which are injurious if too long taken. Catarrh is a local, not a blood disease, caused by sudden change to the cold or damp weather. It starts in the nose, passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat.
Cold in the head causes excessive flow of mucus, and, if repeatedly neglected, the results of catarrh will follow; severe pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and sometimes an offensive discharge. Thereby should be quick to ally inflammation and heal the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles and contains no mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents.
